AUTOMOBILE HIT; GASOLINE BLAST SET TRAIN AFIRE

C. Smith of Ashton and Four Others Near Death Sunday.

An automobile was completely wrecked and the west bound North-Western passenger train passing through Ashton at 9:50 badly damaged in a collision at the east crossing near the elevator at Ashton yesterday forenoon a few minutes before 10 o'clock. Constable Smith and son and Willard Knapp and son were crossing the tracks in the Smith car.

When the machine neared the tracks, the vision of the driver both east and west was obstructed by cars that stood on the sidings. When the car came to the west bound main line track, the engine stalled, the car coming to a stop directly in the path of the rapidly approaching passenger train. Seeing that there was but a slight chance for escape, Mr. Smith called to all of the occupants to jump for their lives, his orders being obeyed.

Jumped; Machine Hit.
The four had just got out of harm's way when the engine struck the machine, the impact causing the gasoline tank to explode, enveloping the entire train in flames. The wrecked car was rolled between the passenger train and cars that stood on the side track, tearing all of the steps off the coaches on the south side of the train and otherwise damaging the equipment. Almost every window in the coaches were open and the flames licked into the cars creating a panic among the passengers who were jostled in their seats by the application of the emergency brakes and the noise of the automobile as it was being rolled between the train and the cars on the sidetrack.

Ashton Firemen Called.
The Ashton volunteer fire department were called out and a large crowd was attracted to the scene, assisting the members of the train crew in extinguishing the flames which were gaining headway beneath two of the coaches. The flames were extinguished with chemicals before a great deal of damage was done. The train was delayed for almost an hour the passengers hurrying out of the doors as soon as it could be stopped. Two weeks ago an automobile was struck by a train at this same crossing and completely wrecked. The railroad company has promised the town of Ashton that gates will be provided at once for this dangerous crossing.

The fireman on the engine was burned about the face but his injuries did not necessitate the attentions of a physician.

CAMP GRANT SOLDIERS WITH STOLEN CAR ARE ARRESTED NEAR DIXON

Taken By Sheriff Within Hour and a Half After They Left Rockford.

In exactly one hour and 30 minutes after Albert Hall, alias Albert Lee, of Rockford, and Herman Werner and Frank Razmaek, Camp Grant soldiers, had left Rockford with a stolen Buick touring car, they were captured by Sheriff Frank A. Schoenholz and John Duffy east of the city in front of the Tryon Rosbrook residence. The trio were brought to Dixon and placed in the county jail after many protests from Hall, and later turned over to Sheriff Harry Baldwin, of Winnebago county.

The Buick automobile was the property of William B. Powell of Winnebago, a suburb of Rockford, who left his car a half block from the court house in Rockford at 3:15 yesterday afternoon. As the owner entered the court house he noticed Hall sitting on the railing, but paid no attention to him. Ten minutes later, Mr. Powell returned to find his car missing and at once reported the matter to Sheriff Baldwin.

Started For Chicago.
Hall and Werner went to Camp Grant where they picked up Frank Razmaek and started on a wild ride for Chicago, planning to come to Dixon and then follow the Lincoln Highway into the city. The sheriff's office at Oregon was notified but the car had already passed through that place at a high rate of speed, taking the River road and headed toward Grand Detour. Word was then sent to Grand Detour and Sheriff Schoenholz was notified. He started east on the River road and without even the license number as a means of identifying the car, found the machine standing in the road in front of the Tryon Rosbrook residence, two of the occupants working with a flat tire.

Hall was the spokesman for the trio and said that the car belonged to his father who resided in Sterling and that they were returning home from Grand Detour. The car showed every sign that it had been driven at high speed for several miles and the sheriff brought them to Dixon and placed them in jail, not heeding the repeated protests of Hall and his two soldier companions. At the jail Hall told a different story, stating that they were on their way to LaSalle and were very much in a hurry.

Taken Back to Rockford.
Sheriff Baldwin was notified by long distance telephone and he with two deputies and the owner of the car came to Dixon Saturday night and returned after midnight with the prisoners and machine.

Hall is a resident of Rockford and was in company with Werner when the car was taken. Werner had a leave of absence from duty at Camp Grant and after taking the car, the two drove to the camp where they were joined by Razmaek, who left the camp without leave. Werner and Razmaek are both said to be from Chicago.

G. A. R. Veterans Open Annual Encampment

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Columbus, O., Sept. 8.—Many hundreds of union veterans of the civil war continued to arrive today for the annual G. A. R. encampment which will be held here this week.

Old soldiers from many states, with the west thus far leading the east in representatives, are in the city and thousands more, officials in charge of the encampment say, are coming. Special trains and regular trains yesterday brought the vanguard—thousands, who, as boys, wore the union blue in the days of '61.

A parade in which the veterans and soldiers who fought in the world war are to take part will be held Wednesday as the big feature of the encampment.

RESERVATION TO TREATY ASSENT WITH BIG "BUT"

Wilson Says Advocates
Want Chance to Run
if Trouble Comes.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Omaha, Neb., Sept. 8.—Discussing for the first time during his speaking tour four proposed reservations to the league of nations, President Wilson replied in an address here today to arguments advanced by those favoring reservations.

"A reservation," said the president, "is an assent with a big 'but.' We agree, — but."

The proposed reservation providing for unconditional withdrawal from membership said the president, meant that its sponsors wanted to "sit near the door with their hand on the knob," and if they saw anything they didn't like, to "scuttle and run."

The league proviso that international obligations must be fulfilled before withdrawal never would restrain the United States, he said, because this nation would live up to its provisions.

Want to Be Late Joiners.

Those who wanted a reservation to Article X, Mr. Wilson continued, simply didn't want to come in now but wanted to be "late joiners."

Any reservation regarding the Monroe doctrine, he added, was unnecessary because the doctrine has been "swallowed, hook, line and sinker" by the peace conference and had been authenticated by the big powers of the world for the first time.

So far as reservations about domestic questions were concerned, he declared, it would be a work of supererogation.

"We didn't ask Germany's consent about the meaning of any of those terms when we were in Paris," he said.

Told Them to Sign

"We told them what they meant and said, 'sign here.' Does any patriotic American want that method changed?"

There were cries of "no, no" from the crowd.

If reservations were put in, Mr. Wilson told them, all that the senate had written in would have to go back for (Continued on Page 4.)

SHERIFF ASKED TO FIND MISSING BOY

Sheriff Schoenholz has been requested to assist in locating Irvin Neppell, a 12-year-old boy who left Princeton Saturday, probably being kidnapped. He left with a strange horse trader, who drove a team and led three horses. They were last seen Saturday evening between Mendota and LaMoille and it is thought that they came to Lee county. Sheriff Schoenholz notified his deputies and has instructed them to arrest and hold both the horse trader and the boy. Young Neppell was described as wearing a white blouse waist and a cap much too big for him and fastened in the back with a safety pin.

CONQUERING HERO RETURNS

GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING IS FOURTH AMERICAN TO HOLD COVETED TITLE OF FULL GENERAL OF U. S.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
When Congress conferred the permanent title of General upon John J. Pershing he was the fourth man to hold that coveted title in the army of the United States. The other three were Grant, Sheridan and Sherman.

As the central American figure in the world war, with the single exception of President Wilson, so much has been written about Pershing, and his life and history are so fresh in the public mind that it is difficult to tell the average American anything about the man who commanded the great army on the battlefields of Europe.

When some of Pershing's friends speak of his rise to a position of great military importance in world annals, they refer to a story quite commonly told of Charles M. Schwab, the ironmaster, who is said to have remarked to his childhood:

"You never expected to see me in this place, did you?"

And the gardener is said to have replied:

"You never expected it yourself."

Was Captain at 13
As late as the time of the Russia-Japanese war in 1904, Pershing, over 40 still was a captain in the regular army. His associates say he never grumbled, but always kept plugging at his job. Beams and beams have been written about how he took a prominent part in the publication of the Philippine Islands and how President Roosevelt (Continued on Page Two.)

ALLIES TELL RUMANIA SHE MUST SIGN PEACE WITHOUT RESERVATION

Cannot Sidestep Treaty
Presented to Austria,
Council Decides.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, Sept. 8.—The supreme council of the peace conference today informed Rumania that she must sign the peace treaty with Austria without reservation or obtain altogether from signing.

The Rumanian peace delegation has not reached a decision in the matter.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, Sept. 8.—The Rumanian delegation has sent a note to the peace conference declaring that its intention was to sign the Austrian treaty with reservations. The supreme council this morning took the Rumanian note under consideration. It appears unlikely that such a signature will be permitted.

Premier Clemenceau presided at the council meeting which also discussed the German reply to the allied demand for suppression of article 61 of the German constitution providing for Austrian representation in the German parliament. The discussion of this subject was not completed today. The council will take it up again tomorrow.

Previous advices from Paris on the subject of the probable attitude of the council with regard to the German constitutional question reflected general opinion among the peace conference delegates that the disputed article would remain in the constitution "without legal force" was highly evasive and that the conference probably would insist upon actual elimination of the section from the constitution.

Japanese Are Riled at Senate's Action

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Tokio, Friday, Sept. 5.—(Delayed)—Discussion by the Japanese press of the action of the United States senate for foreign relations committee relative to the Shantung provision of the peace treaty reflects that an unpleasant impression has been caused in Japan. Newspapers say that "considering Japan's repeated assurance that Shantung is to be returned to China, the committee's attitude is unnecessarily insulting and provocative."

COMMITTEE TO REPORT TREATY TO SENATE ON WEDNESDAY THIS WEEK

Discussion on Pact Will Open Next Monday, It is Now Planned.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Sept. 8.—The peace treaty will be reported to the senate next Wednesday noon, Chairman Lodge of the foreign relations committee announced today. It is planned to call up the treaty for debate beginning next Monday.

Senator Lodge declined to predict how long the senate would require to dispose of the treaty. It will be considered article by article and, Mr. Lodge said, the first amendment to be taken up probably will be that providing for equality of voting between the United States and Great Britain.

Senator Simmons, democrat, of North Carolina, announced to the senate today that while he favored ratification of the treaty without amendment or reservation, he was convinced that concessions must be made to those favoring reservations and that he had been discussing with democrats a "compromise" on conservative reservations of an interpretative character.

Senator Simmons, prominent in democratic leadership, read a formal statement of his position.

"I am in favor of and will gladly vote for the treaty and the league covenant as it was originally presented by the president, without amendment or reservation," said he. "I agree with the president * * * that it contains nothing that would jeopardize American interests. It should be ratified without further delay."

"But after a study of the situation, I am convinced that some concessions in the consideration of reservations must be made."

Senator Simmons said he was "bitterly opposed" to some of the reservations proposed by the republican majority of the foreign relations committee which he regarded as "eliminating some of the main provisions of the league covenant."

SHOPMEN MEET TODAY TO VOTE ON STRIKE PLAN

2000 Delegates Attend National Meeting at Detroit.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—Whether 600,000 maintenance of way men and shop laborers of this country and Canada walk out and tie up more than 600 rail lines seems to depend entirely on what Director General of Railroads Walker D. Hines will tell the men Wednesday and on the report of the committee which conferred with Mr. Hines in Washington to be presented Friday.

Sentiment at the opening sessions here today of the convention of the united brotherhood of maintenance of way employees and railway shop laborers was almost unanimously in favor of a strike without compromise, unless wage and other demands are met by the railroad administration.

Director General Hines is expected to offer a compromise Wednesday.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—Whether there will be declared a strike that it is claimed would tie up all rail transportation in this country and Canada, will be decided at the convention of the international united brotherhood of maintenance of way employees and shop laborers, which was to open here today.

With from 2,000 to 3,000 delegates representing, it is stated, 600,000 maintenance of way and shop workers, attending the convention is ready to consider action on the strike vote canvassed last week which stood 325,000 for and 5,000 against the proposed strike, should wage demands of the brotherhood be denied. Director General of Railroads Walker D. Hines is expected to address the men during the convention.

The brotherhood also asks a new working agreement which, with the wage demands, has been laid before the director general. Officials of the organization have expressed the view an agreement satisfactory to the men may be reached.

It is claimed 25 per cent of the maintenance of way and shop workers represented received less than $2.50 a day. An increase in wages of $1 per day, per man, is demanded.

The convention will sit at least two weeks, and, among other matters, will consider a provident plan with death benefit; creation of an educational system, providing technical school scholarships and promoting efficiency; and the organization of a woman's auxiliary.

AMERICAN ARMY CHIEF IS GIVEN GREAT OVATION

Arrives in N. Y. Early Today—Three Days of Reception.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Sept. 8.—General John J. Pershing is home again.

Standing on the bridge of the huge Leviathan, itself symbolic of victory over Germany, the commander of the greatest force ever gathered under the Stars and Stripes, came slowly up the bay today, world-famed and hailed as a conquering hero should be.

Sad-faced, stern and impressive, the commander-in-chief of America's forces in France, during the war, might have been thinking of the day 27 months ago when he slipped secretly out of the harbor on his way to France to prepare the way for the hosts that were to follow.

Returns Home a General.

Then he was only a major general. He came back today with four stars on his shoulders—the fourth man in American history to be given the rank of full general.

The welcome given him would have quickened the pulse of the hero of a Roman triumph. Fresh from the capitals of allied Europe where honors had been heaped upon him, it remained for New York to show the first American to lead an army across the Atlantic that "Home, Sweet Home" has a meaning deeper than "Hall to the Chief."

No foreign throats could voice the cheers, no alien hearts could pulse the greeting that was General Pershing's here today.

Convoy Greets Steamer.

Dawn barely had broken when the Leviathan loomed through the mists off Ambrose channel lightship. Steaming slowly through the Narrows passage-way, the great steamship was greeted by a convoy of six destroyers while seaplanes circled overhead. The forts which guard the harbor boomed a general salute as the ship which once was the pride of Germany, crept past quarantine and nosed through the Narrows into the harbor under the shadow of the Statue of Liberty. While the guns still echoed, the whistles of merchant vessels from the seven seas, sturdy tugs, gaily decorated ferry boats, excursion craft of every kind, and the sirens of factories on shore joined in a discordant salutation.

Thousands Boar Welcome.

THREE SAILORS ON NEW MEXICO KILLED IN FIRE

Forty Others Hurt in Blaze That Started in Rheostat Room.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
San Francisco, Sept. 8.—Reports of the death of three members of the crew of the U. S. S. New Mexico, flagship of Admiral Hugh Rodman, and the injury of forty others in a fire aboard the vessel here last night, were confirmed today by officers who directed the fire fighting.

According to A. F. Billy, chief gunner's mate, the dead are:

Wm. M. Savage, engine man, second class.

Hilario, George Dixon, mess attendants, third class.

The most seriously injured were: Lieutenant Commanders P. L. Carroll and G. G. McMillan, Lieutenants C. G. Halpins, Norton F. G. Havassee, E. B. Brown, and J. G. Mills, ensigns R. W. Albert, C. T. Wootton, Burroughs and Miller, Gunner Brittenbach.

All were victims of suffocation with the exception of Savage, who was drowned in the ice machine room, according to Billy.

The fire started in the rheostat room, presumably from a cigarette, according to Billy. It spread to the ice machine room where Hilario and Dixon were getting ice. Savage went to their rescue and after getting them out of the room was caught in a rush of water with which the compartment was being flooded.

General John J. Pershing, America's Idol, is Welcomed Home

who had already packed Battery park and overflowed into the streets beyond waiting patiently until General Pershing had been greeted by Vice President Marshall and the secretary of war and was ready to cross the river to the great city that was eager to pay him tribute.

The great liner came to her pier at 8 o'clock and as she was being warped into her berth there was a tremendous volley of cheering from the crowd assembled there. General Pershing, smiling in appreciation, with head bowed repeatedly in response. Once he forgot his dignity in his enthusiasm at returning home and waved his cap as he saluted the happy throng.

At the pier were many dignitaries of nation, state and city and it was there he was welcomed on behalf of the nation.

The first division's band of 100 pieces on board the ship began playing in response to the welcoming strains from the pier and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" and other airs mingled with the cheers.

The Leviathan docked at 8:42. After the informal greetings were over, Secretary Baker welcomed the commander in chief of the expeditionary forces in behalf of the United States. After expressing his own gratitude for the services of General Pershing he read a letter from President Wilson telling of his regret at not being able to join in the reception and pay tribute to the returned soldiers as commander in chief of the army and navy.

Baker's Welcome Address.
In welcoming General Pershing, Secretary Baker said:

"About two and a half years ago, by the president's direction, I had the honor of designating you to lead the armies of the United States in France. To day, you return, your mission accomplished, with victory written on the banner of the greatest army the nation has ever had and with the priceless foundations of liberty and freedom saved for us and for the world as the result of our participation in the world war.

"The task entrusted to you required all the imagination, all the energy, and all the genius of a great commander. From the first you had the complete confidence of the president and the secretary of war. This confidence remained unshaken to the end.

Had Support of People.
"From the beginning you had all the support the people of the United States could give. You and your great army embodied for them their country and their country's cause. They worked with devotion and self sacrifice to sustain and supply you with troops and equipment. Their hearts went overseas with you and their prayers for your welfare and that of your men were constant.

"Doubtless the confidence and affection of your fellow citizens were an inspiration to you in the hours of preparation, in the hours of battle, and the superb exploits of the army under your command were in turn an inspiration to our national effort.

History of A. E. F. Closed.

"The great victories are now won. Your magnificent army has returned and the soldiers who once marched through the thickets of the Argonne are citizens again, filled with high memories of great deeds and carrying into life the inspiration which membership in that great company and sacrifice for that great cause engendered. Your return closes the history of the American expeditionary forces. The president had hoped to be here personally to speak on behalf of the nation a word of welcome. In his enforced absence he has directed me to speak to you this message:

"I bid you welcome, gratefully, on behalf of the country you have served and on behalf of the people whose sons you have led. The confidence with which we sent you away you have sacredly kept. Wherever there is a soldier or a friend of a soldier there is a heart of liberty, wherever there is a heart which rejoices at the deliverance of mankind from its hour of peril and your great army are remembered and loved. You return not only to American soil but to the heart of the country.

President's Greeting.
"The president has directed me to read to you this message:

"My dear General Pershing: "I am distressed that I cannot greet you in person. It would give me the greatest pleasure to grasp your hand and say to you what is in my heart and in the hearts of all true Americans as we hail your return to the homeland you have served so gallantly. Notwithstanding my physical absence, may I not, as your commander-in-chief and as spokesman of our fellow countrymen, bid you an affectionate and enthusiastic welcome, a welcome warmed with the ardour of genuine affection and deep admiration. You have served the country with fine devotion and admirable efficiency in a war forever memorable as the world's triumphant protest against injustice and as its vindication of liberty, the liberty of peoples and of nations.

"We are proud of you and of the men you commanded. No finer armies ever set their indomitable strength and unconquerable spirit against the forces of wrong. Their glory is the glory of the nation and it is with a thrill of profound pride that we greet you as their leader and commander. You have just come from the navy who made the achievements of our arms on land possible and who so gallantly assisted to clear the seas of their lurking peril. Our hearts go out to them, too.

Expresses Affectionate Welcome.
"It is delightful to see you home again, well and fit for the fatigues you must endure before we are done with our welcome. I will not speak now of our associates on the other side of the sea. It will be delightful on many occasions to speak their praise. I speak now only of our personal joy that you are at home again and that we have the opportunity to make you feel the

These Girls Who Sang "Under the Guns" - Now Are Singing On Them In Germany

One of the first Y.M.C.A. entertainment units to go into Germany with the American Army of Occupation was composed of three girls and a man. Where hitherto they had had to do their entertaining in dugouts, barns or whatever else came handy, they are now appearing in palaces and castles before all the uncrowned heads of Europe. They are Jane Tuttle, Carroll McComas, Eleanor Rogers and Walter Dale. In France they went all through the battlefields of the Argonne Forest, putting on shows in towns which saw some of the hardest fighting of the war. Wherever the boys went, they went, too.

Gen. John J. Pershing and his staff reached their dock in Hoboken a few minutes after 8 o'clock.

Messages dropped by a police hydro-aeroplane aboard the giant steamship Leviathan at day break signaled the beginning of the three-days' reception to General Pershing by the city of New York. The moment the Leviathan was sighted, steamships along her inbound path let loose their whistles in a screaming greeting and as the former German liner proceeded through the narrows to quarantine she did not start the harbor craft was taken up by her sirens throughout the city.

Welcomed By Mayor.
The messages dropped by the police liner welcomed the general on behalf of the city and were signed by Mayor Hylan and Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of the mayor's committee of welcome to homecoming troops. From aboard the city steamer patrol Hylan, Governor Smith and other notables greeted the returning soldiers, on behalf of the city and state. Vice President Marshall welcomed General Pershing from the deck of the destroyer Blakely. In the vice president's party were Secretary of War Baker, General Peyton C. March, chief of staff, and other high officers and members of congress.

Full Program Today.
General Pershing's first day on the home shore was filled with receptions, luncheons and concluded with a theatre party. The program follows:

Congressional Greeting Given.
Secretary Baker introduced United States Senator Wadsworth of New York, who extended the formal welcome of the senate, and Representative Mondell, majority leader in the house of representatives, who spoke for his associates. Mr. McAdoo voiced the welcome of the city of New York and Mrs. F. M. Swacker greeted General Pershing in behalf of the governor of Missouri, his home state. The leader of the army responded briefly.

Gazing proudly upon the soldiers of the First division, General Pershing, in response, declared that the affectionate words of greeting overwhelmed him with emotion. He was happy to be once again on American soil, he said. The warmth of his reception made him feel, he said, that "if this is to continue, I believe that before many days I might wish that the war had not come to an end."

United Efforts Won.
Secretary Baker had been generous in his compliments, General Pershing said, as to "my part in the war," he declared however that "the victory was only won by the united effort of the nation."

"The American army at all times," he said, "that it had the resolute and unanimous support of the people at home."

The general emphasized the achievements of his troops, declaring that "the morale of our men was never for a moment shaken."

"All credit is due to those brave fellows who faced without flinching and with but little preparation, a well drilled army. It is to them, Mr. Secretary and my friends, we owe the highest tribute for the winning of the war."

Tribute to the Fallen.
Referring tenderly to those who had fallen in battle, General Pershing said: "Those whom we left behind are in the hands of an affectionate and grateful people. Their graves will be visited by Americans who go abroad and from these graves new lessons of patriotism will be learned."

General Pershing at the close of his remarks, turned to Secretary Baker and requested him to convey to President Wilson his sincere thanks for the confidence that has been displayed in him as commander of the American expeditionary forces. He also thanked Mr. Baker for his confidence and the assistance he had given him at all times.

Gazing proudly upon the soldiers of the First division, General Pershing, in response, declared that the affectionate words of greeting overwhelmed him with emotion. He was happy to be once again on American soil, he said. The warmth of his reception made him feel, he said, that "if this is to continue, I believe that before many days I might wish that the war had not come to an end."

United Efforts Won.
Secretary Baker had been generous in his compliments, General Pershing said, as to "my part in the war," he declared however that "the victory was only won by the united effort of the nation."

"The American army at all times," he said, "that it had the resolute and unanimous support of the people at home."

The general emphasized the achievements of his troops, declaring that "the morale of our men was never for a moment shaken."

"All credit is due to those brave fellows who faced without flinching and with but little preparation, a well drilled army. It is to them, Mr. Secretary and my friends, we owe the highest tribute for the winning of the war."

Tribute to the Fallen.
Referring tenderly to those who had fallen in battle, General Pershing said: "Those whom we left behind are in the hands of an affectionate and grateful people. Their graves will be visited by Americans who go abroad and from these graves new lessons of patriotism will be learned."

General Pershing at the close of his remarks, turned to Secretary Baker and requested him to convey to President Wilson his sincere thanks for the confidence that has been displayed in him as commander of the American expeditionary forces. He also thanked Mr. Baker for his confidence and the assistance he had given him at all times.

THREE DAYS' RECEPTION BEGINS.

New York, Sept. 8.—Amid the shrieking of sirens from thousands of factories and ships, the Leviathan bearing

Gen. John J. Pershing and his staff reached their dock in Hoboken a few minutes after 8 o'clock.

Messages dropped by a police hydro-aeroplane aboard the giant steamship Leviathan at day break signaled the beginning of the three-days' reception to General Pershing by the city of New York. The moment the Leviathan was sighted, steamships along her inbound path let loose their whistles in a screaming greeting and as the former German liner proceeded through the narrows to quarantine she did not start the harbor craft was taken up by her sirens throughout the city.

Welcomed By Mayor.
The messages dropped by the police liner welcomed the general on behalf of the city and were signed by Mayor Hylan and Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of the mayor's committee of welcome to homecoming troops. From aboard the city steamer patrol Hylan, Governor Smith and other notables greeted the returning soldiers, on behalf of the city and state. Vice President Marshall welcomed General Pershing from the deck of the destroyer Blakely. In the vice president's party were Secretary of War Baker, General Peyton C. March, chief of staff, and other high officers and members of congress.

Congressional Greeting Given.
Secretary Baker introduced United States Senator Wadsworth of New York, who extended the formal welcome of the senate, and Representative Mondell, majority leader in the house of representatives, who spoke for his associates. Mr. McAdoo voiced the welcome of the city of New York and Mrs. F. M. Swacker greeted General Pershing in behalf of the governor of Missouri, his home state. The leader of the army responded briefly.

GEN. J. J. PERSHING IS FOURTH AMERICAN TO HOLD TITLE GENERAL

made him a brigadier general, jumping him over the heads of exactly 862 other men who were senior to him on the service roll.

When Pershing took the punitive expedition to Mexico after the bandit Villa he became the only living officer in the American army who had commanded any body of troops so large as a brigade in anything approaching action. It is true that the late General Funston commanded more than a brigade on the Vera Cruz expedition but Funston's troops never got into action.

First in Indian Wars.
From the time Pershing graduated from West Point in 1886 he had his full share of active and valuable service in the army. Like his classmates he immediately was plunged into the Indian Wars. He entered a campaign against the great Apache chief Geronimo who for many years had kept the great southwestern country almost closed to immigration by his skill and bravery. It was in these campaigns that many of young American officers received that special training evolved in combat with the wild savages which proved of peculiar value in certain phases of the highly scientific modern warfare in France and Belgium.

They were taught the art of scouting, of trailing and of perfect self-reliance in the school beyond the ken of any European soldier and many a midnight raid by the Americans into No-Man's Land doubtless found its inception and development in the brain of one of these one-time Indian fighters of Pershing's type.

Much Honorable Mention.
It is recorded officially of Pershing that the beginning of his career, for instance, he was complimented by General Miles, his commander-in-chief in the Geronimo campaign for "marching his troops, with pack train, over rough country, 140 miles in 46 hours, bringing in every animal and man in good condition." Until he reached command rank Pershing always was a cavalry officer and the records of the War Department show more than one honorable mention for his conduct during his ten years' service in the Department of Arizona.

In the Spanish war as an officer of the Tenth Cavalry he was promoted for gallantry at the battle of El Caney to be a major in the Volunteer army and after a short detail in Washington in the Bureau of Insular Affairs was sent to the Philippines as adjutant-general of the Department of Mindanao and Jolo.

Ordered Against Moros.
That was the turning point in Pershing's career. He began to take his profession of arms more seriously and to display the powers of concentration upon problems that stood him in good stead in the great campaign that was to follow in Europe. Attracted by his earnestness and soldierly qualities, General Leonard Wood, who was his superior officer at the time, selected Pershing to organize and conduct a campaign against the Moros who for centuries had successfully resisted all attempts of the Spanish army to subjugate them.

Up to that point something of a parallel may be found in the careers of Wood and Pershing. Each had made brilliant reputations as Indian fighters and each had been picked by President Roosevelt for extraordinary promotion because of their high promise of military ability. Roosevelt had made Wood a brigadier general in 1901 and he made Pershing, then a captain, a brigadier general in 1906 to the absolute consternation of the old line of the army because it involved the "jumping" of both officers over many hundreds of their seniors.

Teamwork His Hobby.
Pershing believed in teamwork; he knew that whatever success the Germans had attained was through their unified command of the armies of the Central Powers. So he was not only willing but anxious to see the same principles adopted by the Entente armies. He sank his private ambitions and freely tendered the services of the last American soldiers and all his army equipment to General Foch at the most critical point in the campaign. There is said to be no doubt that his example affected the other commands and went a long way towards bringing about the unification of the Entente armies under Marshal Foch.

Won European Confidence.
It was not until Pershing was certain that the plans he had made with the assistance of his own staff for a successful campaign into Alsace-Lorraine had behind them the support of a sufficient number of American soldiers that Pershing felt justified in taking complete command of an important sector of the line of battle with the full assent of Marshal Foch and with the result that the American army broke the morale of the Germans and brought the war to an end.

For what he did in Europe Pershing has been praised beyond measure by the greatest rulers and soldiers of the world who have been glad to welcome him and press his hand.

People's Column.
Eastenders were mightily pleased with the letter of Mr. Harvey, V. P. of the Reynolds Wire company, appearing in last Saturday's issue of The Telegraph, touching on that company's share in the smoke nuisance. Let anyone not familiar with the situation cast an eye eastward at about the middle of the forenoon and afternoon, on any week day and they will get some appreciation of the seriousness of the pest with which the homes in the east end have had to contend for many years. Heretofore constant protests and yearly campaigns for relief at the doors of the city council have been unavailing.

Now, at last, there is an awakening which promises great satisfaction to a long suffering community, and it will cheerfully award to the Wire company the merited distinction of leading the way. Mr. Harvey's letter is a credit not only to him but to the company which stands back of him, and it is hoped that his candor and the neighborly interest and civic pride it breathes will take hold of the remaining offenders, the Ice company and the Water company and convert them over to the same way of thinking and doing. Indeed it is only fair to say that indication are already coming to light that with them also the process of reform is fairly under way.

The present city council is the first one to take hold of this troublesome matter with commendable spirit and energy. They have handled it so wisely, yet firmly, that no bad blood has been roused and a result creditable to all concerned is about to be attained. Air polluted by soot is both filthy and unhealthy. The people of this city are entitled to clean air in which to live and rear their families and none of the exigencies of business can justify polluting it. The soot is pure carbon (the heatmaking property of the coal), and the economic use to make of it would seem to be to apply the effective laws of combustion to convert it into steam, instead of belching it forth into the atmosphere to the harm and annoyance of the people and unappeasable wrath of the housewives who in their never-ending battle for cleanliness find it the most incorrigible and nastiest of their foes.

MARRIED IN LEE—

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. James church, Lee, Ill., on Wednesday morning, when Peter Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Barr, of West Brooklyn, Ill., and Miss Helen Duffy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Duffy, of Shabbona, were united in holy matrimony. The ceremony was read by the Rev. William Quinlisk, and special nuptial music was rendered by John and Irene Duffy, brother and sister of the bride, and violin music by Frank Barr, brother of the groom, with Hilda Herrmann, accompanist.

Brown de flois was chosen for the bride's suit, with hat to match. Miss Agnes Duffy served as bride's maid in a suit of taupe and the flowers were yellow roses.

William Deegan, who has recently arrived from overseas, was best man, the groom and best man each being dressed in fine military uniforms.

A four-course wedding dinner was served to the immediate relatives by Misses Hilda Duffy, Celia Barr, Phoebe Knur, Margaret Duffy and Madeline Kelly, Mrs. Emma Card catering.

The bride is a young woman of many attainments, having finished her educational work at DeKalb. She is also a talented musician and a general favorite with every one.

The groom is an exemplary young man, having been in the U. S. service, being assigned to the quarter masters division and was cornet soloist in the 22nd infantry band at Jacksonville, Florida.

The bride and groom left Shabbona Wednesday evening about 3 o'clock, en route on their honeymoon trip in the Barr coupe, their destination unknown. On their return they will make their home at West Brooklyn, Ill.

Twenty-five relatives gathered at the Martin Mihm home in the country near DeKalb Tuesday afternoon, complimenting Helen Duffy, of Shabbona, who became a bride Wednesday. The rooms were decorated with pink and white streamers, hearts and ferns.

S. S. EFFICIENCY CONFERENCE—

The third of a series of efficiency conferences of the County Sunday School association and said to be one of the best so far, was held in Amboy Sunday at the Baptist church. A very interesting program was followed, with separate conferences for each of four divisions of workers, Children, Young People, Adult and Administrative. Each one was presided over by one of the able county leaders. Following these conferences, the workers were reassembled and had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. McFarland, of Rockford, who is to be one of the principal speakers at the County W. C. T. U. convention to be held in Dixon Tuesday, the Rev. Joseph Burrows, an Amboy pastor, and a number of the county officers, who told of their work. Officers of the association and workers were present, large representations coming especially from Amboy, Dixon, East Grove, Lee Center, Sublette and Nachusa. The two previous conferences were held in Paw Paw and Dixon and the remaining two of a series of five will be held in Ashton and Steward.

RETURNS TO NEW YORK—

Miss Lucia Dement plans to leave tomorrow for New York after summering here at Lowell Park. Many here enjoyed seeing Miss Dement's collection of art works exhibited at the public library part of last week and had taken, given at the library, Wednesday afternoon. Her pictures were mainly Arizona and California landscapes and she told of the many picturesque features of these states which make of them an ideal stamping ground for artists. She also spoke of the large place art has in enriching the life of the individual and asked for children the cultivation of their talent along that line. About forty gathered in the library for her talk and were immensely well repaid. Miss Dement leaves to resume her work as art instructor in the Teachers' College, Columbia University.

MRS. MCFARLAND TO SPEAK—

Mrs. McFarland, who comes to Dixon Tuesday for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union County Convention, is one of the most successful workers in Illinois. As president of the Winnebago W. C. T. U., she has gained a thorough knowledge of the work of that great organization and as chairman of the White Ribbon work for the men at Camp Grant has led her forces in their wonderful work of mother-love and helpfulness. Through the heart-rending time when the influenza took its awful toll, this woman worked most nobly. She may be heard on Tuesday evening at the Methodist church when she will tell her story of "Mother Love."

DINNER AND THEATRE PARTY—

Miss Dorothy Chapman entertained with a dinner and theatre party Friday evening in honor of her 17th birthday. The guests were the Misses Pearl Monahan, Irene Miller, and Marguerite Watts. The table decorations were in green and white.

ACTRESS NOW SOCIOLOGIST—

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale of Forest Hills, L. I., who has been studying labor and reconstruction problems in England, sailed recently for home.

Mrs. Hale, once well known as an actress and later as a lecturer on the drama, has been devoting much of her time lately to labor, economics and sociological problems. Dixon people will remember she lectured here about a year ago in the interests of war work.

AT GRACE U. E. CHURCH—

Miss Mae Adams, an experienced Bible teacher and evangelist, spoke at Grace United Evangelical church last evening. She attended the great Bible Conference, recently held at Winola Lake, Indiana, and reported that it was largely attended and pronounced to have been one of the best meetings ever held there. Prominent ministers and Bible teachers from this country, Canada, and England, were among the speakers. Miss Adams urged the people to become students of the Bible and her message was well received. She used a blackboard and presented her thought, in part, by means of the following acrostics on the word "Bible":

B—lessed.
I—information.
B—ringing.
I—life.
E—ternal.

B—hold the Book.
I—investigate the Book.
B—elieve the Book.
I—live the Book.
E—xtend the Book.

The United Evangelical denomination has inaugurated a Forward Campaign with the following objectives: personal Bible study, personal devotion, family prayer, the prayer meeting, Christian stewardship, and the raising of one million of dollars as a special offering for various causes. In other words the aims are, every member of the church a student of the Bible, every member an intercessor for the coming of the Kingdom, every member's home a temple of worship, every member in the weekly prayer meeting unless prevented by what our Lord will accept as a reason for absence, and every member a steward in the household of God.

Rallies in the interests of the campaign will be held in all of the United Evangelical churches of the Freeport District during the next two weeks. There will be a great meeting at Grace church on tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. Delegations from Sterling, Polo and Ashton are expected and all the members and friends of the local congregation are urged to be present. Pastors of some of the adjoining churches and lay workers from their congregations will speak. The singing will be first-class.

This miracle of industry has been wrought by the needs of the Bryant Park, New York—sister of the Eagle Hut which is the Y. M. C. A.'s big Eagle Hut in "Y" center of activities in London. As members of the New York staff, Miss Genevieve Clendenin and Miss Marion Tiffany are doing their part taking care of the 155,000 boys who are served in a month at this one "Y" hut.

There is seldom an hour of the day when a crowd of soldiers and sailors are not eating or writing letters, cashing checks and buying money orders, getting free or cut-rate theatre tickets or having their clothes mended. Sleeping accommodations controlled by the "Y" take care of 4,500 men a month, another 1,000 see New York from "Y" buses, and a similar number in automobiles lent by owners.

Twenty-five thousand letters and cards are written in Eagle Hut every week, and a three-cent stamp is sold every half-minute. In one month the "Y" cashed checks and exchanged American money for foreign to a total of $53,740, of which $10,417 was turned back at the counter where post office money orders are sold. Seven thousand cut-rate theatre tickets were purchased, and 2,705 boys got free tickets which had been contributed through the "Y" by their friends.

And the dinners—fricasee chicken, hamburger steak, biscuit, pot pie, pork chops, roast veal, cod fish cakes, fried oysters and roast beef, all for a quarter a portion except the fish cakes, which are cheaper. Everything else is a nickel—soup, ice cream, pie, salad, cake with marshmallow filling and the like. If there is any surplus at the end of a month after satisfying soldier and sailor appetites at these prices, it goes into a few extras for the following month.

Just because Miss Clendenin and Miss Tiffany happen to live in the Fifth Avenue section of New York has been no bar to aprons and plates of bacon and eggs for a faithful of hungry soldiers and sailors at seven-thirty in the morning. Nor has it prevented their being on the job at eleven o'clock at night. In fact, so far as Eagle Hut is concerned, they are just two of the 200 or so workers in one of the city's "Y" centers where boys from France and Prisco are making themselves at home.

SURPRISED BY SHOW OF AFFECTION

CHAPTER LXVII

I crashed the message in my hand. Everett could not even send me a telegram without giving me an order. "Do not wait up for me," he had said. "Well, I wouldn't! Not because he had told me not to, but because I didn't want to. I'd try indifference. Evidently Leola was perfectly indifferent as to whether he liked what she did or not. I, too, would learn to be that way, and I would commence at once."

If he spoke about my going to bed, I would tell him I had intended to sit up, but had been too sleepy—then—another thought came. I would defy him! I would not only sit up, but I would go to the station and meet him. It would be after midnight, but what difference did that make? It would have made no difference to Leola.

Perhaps Everett did care for me a little—how else should he have asked me to marry him? But it was a different kind of love from that he had given Leola, and I wanted that kind—the kind that never saw any faults in me, and if he did, he would love me too much, be too afraid of offending me, to mention them. So I determined to meet him.

I would do more. I would comb my hair high on my head as Leola had, and if he again objected, I would tell him I was going to do it as I liked, if he never scolded Leola for anything, why should he scold me? I was just as much his wife as she had been—even if I were Number Two. I had just as much right to have my own way as she had, and I would have it just as she had done. Then perhaps Everett would love me with the same blind devotion as I called it in my thoughts he had given her. "Have a taxi here at 11:30," I said to Hetty. "I am going to the train to meet Mr. Graham."

"Shall I go with you?"
"No—I shall not need you."
Dinner over, I went upstairs and arranged my hair as I liked it, and as Everett had ordered me not to wear it I felt on so wicked, and so happy that at last I had decided to do as Leola did and please myself, instead of everlasting trying to please him.

I thought the evening never would pass. I played a little, read a little, and to me perfectly honest, I shivered a little because of my daring.

It was exactly 11:30 when I heard the honk of the taxi. I was all ready, but waited for Hetty to call me. I had been very brave so far, but when I found myself really on the way to the station, I began to feel not quite so sure I could carry out my plan of showing Everett I could be as independent as Leola. I had allowed myself ample time—too much for my comfort. As the time for the train to arrive grew near, I paced the platform nervously. What if Everett should be so angry he wouldn't speak to me, or what if he should scold me furiously? In my anxiety over the manner of his greeting, I had almost forgotten the two injured men, the loss of my jewels, the damaged car, and all that had happened since he left. "What is the matter? What are you doing here this time of night? I have been so busy with my thoughts that the train had come in, and Everett had seen me before I realized he had time to reach me."

"I came to meet you."
"Where's the car?"
"I came in a taxi. Thomas is—hurt."
It was like Everett to ask no questions, but his face flushed and I shivered again at the thought of what he would say when we should be alone. Seated in the taxi he turned to me.

"Now what does this mean?" He had not kissed me, nor said he was glad to see me. So I reminded him.
"You haven't kissed me, Everett."
"I do not intend to until you tell me what this means. I explicitly told you in my wire to go to bed. Why did you disobey me?"

"I wanted so to see you." It wasn't the exact truth, but it might placate him.
"That is no excuse for disobeying me. Now tell me about Thomas. I will talk to you about your action later."

"A man ran into us, or we into him. The two cars grazed each other and Thomas was thrown out and quite seriously hurt."

"Where were you?"
"In the car. But I wasn't hurt—just bruised and shaken up." I wouldn't make too light of it. To my surprise Everett swept me into his arms and, holding me close, he covered my face with kisses.
"Thank God, you weren't injured!" he said as he put me out of his arms only when we drew up to the curb. While he was paying the man I wondered if ever there was another man like him. And I also wondered if he would overlook my trying to go with him, and everything that had happened while he had been gone.

VOTE AT THE PRIMARY.

Wednesday of this week is election day. The political parties are to select their candidates for delegates to the Constitutional Convention. On the Republican ticket there are two candidates, and both of them should be nominated. Edward H. Brewster of Dixon and Alvin Warren of DeKalb county are the two men that the republicans of this district desire to send to the Constitutional Convention. This district is entitled to two delegates.

Every voter should go to the polls on Wednesday and record his vote.

Fifty-seven percent of the Frenchmen under 30 years of age were killed in the war. More than one-half. More than one-fourth of all her men, of all ages, were killed. The number wounded and crippled is, of course, still greater. That is something to think about.

An agricultural paper says that rhizoctonia is but imperfectly understood and the Kansas City Star says that it is included to believe that the statement is true. We'll say that imperfectly is putting it mildly. It sounds like an insect powder.

Former Champion in Baltimore, Md., Sept. 8.—Duncan O. Ross, holder of the Victoria cross for valor in the British army, former world's champion broad swordman and famous on two continents as a wrestler of days gone by, was found dead today in his little curio shop in Pennsylvania avenue, this city.

Ross suffered a stroke of paralysis some time ago, and it is believed a second stroke caused his death.

RESERVATION TO TREATY ASSENT WITH BIG "BUT"

the consent of Germany. He added that there were indications that those on the other side of the water are not in as good a humor as they had been.

The only way the Shantung provision could be bettered, Mr. Wilson declared, would be to go to war with Japan, England and France. He told the crowd the nation could not "sign all, but a part of a treaty."

Can't Rewrite Treaty.

"We cannot rewrite this treaty," said he. "We must take it or leave it."

He said he believed the treaty should be accepted soon, but added:

"But no man can tell how long it will take the United States senate to do anything."

The president said he had heard some men wanted the United States to stand alone for an "armed pan-Americanism," but he did not believe the people would accept it. He paid a tribute to Senator Hitchcock, the democratic leader in the treaty fight, whose home is in Omaha. He had "been proud to stand by Senator Hitchcock," he said, in the fight.

Mr. Wilson characterized the league of nations as "the only possible guarantee against war" and said he would feel regretful to those who fought the war if he did not secure its adoption.

Will Quell Labor.

Prompt acceptance of the peace treaty so that uncertainties in labor conditions throughout the world may be cleared up was urged by President Wilson before the Omaha audience today. The international labor organization to be set up under the treaty, he said, would give to labor a new bill of rights.

Mr. Wilson spoke to a crowd of Nebraskans and Iowans which filled every corner of the auditorium, said to seat 7,500 persons.

He was taken for an eight-mile automobile ride on the way to the hall, women of the Red Cross motor corps driving the party.

On the downtown portions of the ride there were crowds which cheered the president and in the residential sections small crowds had gathered here and there.

Train Stopped in Field.

Although the presidential special had left Des Moines, where the president and Mrs. Wilson had rested over Sunday, at midnight, it was sidetracked for several hours among the Iowa cornfields near Underwood, so that those on board could complete a full night's rest.

It was about 9 o'clock before the train rolled into Omaha. Leaving immediately after his address the president was to speak tonight at Sioux Falls, S. D.

The president was introduced by G. W. Wattle, state president and secretary of the League to Enforce Peace. There were cheers when Mr. Wilson arose to speak. Mrs. Wilson was on the platform.

Happy to Ask Support.

Mr. Wilson said he was happy to appeal for acceptance of the treaty, not as the representative of a party, but as the representative of the whole people, saying he believed the people had been led to think there were only four or five clauses in the peace treaty, the president showed to the audience a bulky volume containing the treaty text. Those who picked little flaws in it, he declared, had no conception of the majesty of the document.

Every one who had read the treaty declared the president, agreed that it contained "a complete settlement of the matters that led to this war and that it contained the machinery by which they shall stay settled."

The disputed land titles of Europe had been settled by the treaty, Mr. Wilson continued on the basis that in each case the land belonged to the people that lived on it.

New Labor Charter.

The "charter of liberty for the working men of the world," Mr. Wilson said, never had been dreamed of before. He added that there was only one way to see to the enforcement of such provisions and that was through a league of nations.

Declaring the league would include all the great peoples except Germany, the president said Germany would be admitted after "a period of probation." He referred to charges that the treaty was too harsh, and said it provided only that Germany pay what she was able. She had committed a "criminal act," he said, and must suffer and pay.

Will Enter League Now.

Confidence that the United States would enter the league at its formation was expressed by Mr. Wilson, who said the only alternative would be to stay out and come in later along with Germany.

Emphasizing the arbitration features of the league, he said that in case the processes failed the result would be not war, but an economic boycott and isolation under which the strongest nation in Europe could not stand for six months. After that, he predicted, "they will have no stomach for war."

Quoting Article X of the league covenant, Mr. Wilson said anyone who understands the English language must admit that when it said the league could "advise" it meant "advise" and not compel. He characterized the league as "the only possible guarantee against war" and said he would feel regretful to those who fought the war if he did not urge its adoption.

It was not an "absolute" guarantee, he added, because there was no absolute guarantee against human passion.

FACES A FULL WEEK.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

On Board President Wilson's Special Train, Sept. 8. — Carrying his appeal for acceptance of the peace treaty into the heart of the northwest, President Wilson began today a week of travel that will take him over the Rockies and all the way to the Pacific coast.

Two addresses were on the president's crowded schedule again today, one at the auditorium at Omaha, Neb., and the other at an evening mass meeting in Sioux Falls, S. D. Departing at midnight from Des Moines, Ia., where he had spent Sunday, the president was to reach Omaha some hours before the address, but he wanted to sleep late and local plans had been adjusted so as to give him a full night's rest.

On the advice of his physician, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the president is conserving his strength for the three weeks of travel and speech making ahead of him. After his breathing spell in Des Moines, Mr. Wilson was said to be in excellent trim, but Dr. Grayson will insist that he take things easy.

Has Slight Cold.

It was principally on account of a slight cold, impairing the president's voice, that Dr. Grayson prescribed against rear platform speeches. Although his voice is holding up well, it has broken once or twice during his addresses and to one audience he remarked that the circumstance was due to the "remains of a Paris cold."

On the presidential private car the president and Mrs. Wilson are well taken care of. Mrs. Wilson's maid came along and there is one of the white house cooks aboard to prepare their meals.

The remainder of the train also is fitted up with a view to reducing the inconveniences of the 10,000 mile trip. The dining car is to be carried all the way and there is a club car which the newspaper correspondents, secret service men and secretaries use as a lounging place.

Wilson Quite Friendly.

The president and Mrs. Wilson dine privately but Mr. Wilson strolls back into the club car occasionally for a chat with the other members of the party.

One of the hardest working members of the presidential party is Charles L. Swen, Mr. Wilson's personal stenographer, who handles single handed the official transcript of the president's addresses. As soon as an address is completed, he transcribes directly on the stencil of a mimeograph machine aboard the train so that official copies of the text may be available without delay.

League Opponents to Offer Constitution
in Reply to Wilson

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Sept. 8. — Opponents of the league of nations answering President Wilson's demand to "put up or shut up" offer as a substitute "the constitution of the United States, the declaration of independence and Lincoln government," by the people, Senator Poindexter, republican, Washington, declared today in an address to the senate.

"The president," Senator Poindexter said, "offers us a government by council in Geneva and says you must take it if you have nothing better to offer. It is not a question of something better to offer. The question is whether there is anything worse that could be offered."

"How can the president tell the people," demanded Senator Poindexter, "that the league founded on the principle that Europe shall participate in the control of American affairs, and that America shall participate in the control of European affairs, does not abrogate the Monroe doctrine?"

Quoting the president as saying Germany would not have invaded Belgium if she had known the United States would have intervened, Senator Poindexter said:

"What prevented the United States from intervening? Is it not true that President Wilson himself prevented us from intervening in order that he might make a campaign for the presidency on the slogan, 'he kept us out of war'?"

SERBIANS OPPOSE APPOINTMENT OF MINISTER DODGENew U. S. Envoy Likely to Find Hostility in New Position.

Belgrade, Aug. 23. — (Correspondence of The Associated Press.) — Appointment of H. Percival Dodge as first Minister of the United States to the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, has caused general satisfaction to members of the diplomatic corps and Americans here, in view of his handling of affairs during the difficult period that followed the liberation of Serbia and the organization of the new kingdom of Yugoslavia.

Mr. Dodge who has been here for some time as American special agent and charge d'affaires, has held posts in Africa, Asia and Latin-America, as well as in Europe. He is 49 years old, a graduate of Harvard, and a lawyer as well as a diplomat. He was in Berlin several years as secretary of embassy. Subsequently, he became secretary of embassy at Tokio and in 1908 was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Salvador. Later he went in the same capacity to Morocco and in 1910 became chief of the Division of Latin-American affairs in the Department of State. In 1911 he went to Panama as minister. In 1914 he was secretary for the United States at the A B C Conference.

When the war broke out Mr. Dodge went to France as a special agent of the State Department to aid the American ambassador in looking after German and Austrian interests. He was a member of the Breckenridge Mission organized to rescue Americans who were stranded in Europe because of the war, and which spent $1,500,000 in gold for this purpose as special agent and charge d'affaires. In July 1917 he was sent to the Island of Corfu where the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Serbia had located and remained there until the changing fortunes of Serbia made possible the return of the government to Belgrade.

Soon after Serbia's liberation, Mr. Dodge came to Belgrade, traveling by way of Ragusa and Sarajevo, and arriving in the capital on December 9, 1918. Conditions here were very unsettled at that time. There was a great shortage of fuel and food and for several months the minister and his family lived amid pioneer conditions.

Just before Christmas the American Red Cross arrived from Saloniki and Mr. Dodge aided in the beginning and extension of its relief activities. In the half-year that followed Mr. Dodge witnessed the birth and growth of the new Kingdom of Yugoslavia. He speaks German, French and Italian fluently and diverts himself by long walks.

Mrs. Dodge, a daughter of Rear Admiral Adams, United States Navy (retired) and their twelve-year old daughter, Alice, are here with him.

NAVY NEEDS NAVIGATORS - and Church Supplies Them

WHEN Captain Robert Huntington goes aboard his ship he is not piped on deck with nautical ceremony, nor does he glance at the barometer to see whether there will be a blow of wind before nightfall. No, indeed; Captain Huntington crams his newspaper into his pocket, steps into an elevator, murmurs "Thirteenth floor, John," and then fumbles in his pocket for a ring of Yale keys. When he steps out of the elevator, key in hand, Captain Huntington proceeds to his quarters, unlocks the door, picks up the mail and then calls for a stenographer. And if you were to remain with him for an hour you would hear him dictating this letter and that, until at last he decides to step out on the bridge. Then Captain Huntington again has recourse to his keys. He unlocks a door, climbs up a spiral staircase, passes through another door and walks along the bridge to the chart-room. From there he can look out on New York harbor, at the tugs that wander up and down, at the dirty freighters swinging at anchor, at the graceful passenger liners passing in, or else he can turn about and gaze at the Singer building and the Woolworth Tower.

The Skyscraper Ship. It will be seen by this that Captain Huntington's command is no ordinary ship. He does not have to worry about anchorages, for he is always at anchor. He has no fears for storms, for his craft is always still. He does not have to worry his owners for spanning new canyons, for the wind never fills his sails. He has no fears of seasickness or of being run into, for his bridge and his chart-house and his quarter deck are the top floor of a New York skyscraper.

On paper, Captain Huntington's command is put down as "Navigation and Marine Engineering School," but the heads are ever unimaginative. The anchorage is given at 25 South street, and if you go there you will find it to be the Seamen's Church Institute, for the school that Captain Huntington conducts is an activity of the Episcopal Church, which runs the institute, also.

Years ago the school was conducted as a private enterprise, but it failed and passed into the hands of the Y. M. C. A. Again it was unsuccessful and the Seamen's Church Institute took it over and installed it on the top floor of its building, and if you go there you will find young men, whose faces are burned by sun and sea water and whose hands are calloused from bending lines, leaning over calculations in the art of navigation that will one day bring them in command of vessels. Since June 1, 1916, when it came under the control of the Seamen's Church Institute, the Navigation and Marine Engineering School has been making its way, surely and successfully. But it is proposed to make it of even greater service than it has been and through the Nation-Wide Campaign of the Episcopal Church it is hoped to add to its equipment and thereby increase its efficiency; for the Nation-Wide campaign is an effort to enlarge the activities of the church.

Other Ports to Adopt Scheme. In common with other communions that have been inspired by a great war to enlarge their activities, the Episcopal Church is now making a survey of its resources and needs. The men of the sea are not to be the only beneficiaries of the Nation-Wide Campaign of awakening to the problems of the after-the-war service. It is hoped that there may be great expansion in all the general missions of the Church. But the greatest emphasis is to be laid on the home field. Church leaders believe that the greatest effectiveness is obtained generally when specific problems which are at hand have been solved. And so from one end of the country to the other there is to be a rebuilding on a more comprehensive plan of church activity than ever. One result will be that the Seamen's Church Institute scheme will be extended to all the important ports of the country. Doubtless Captain Huntington's idea will have its counterpart in some of the new institutes.

The School Record.

To the seaman, who might otherwise never gain the knowledge necessary to pass his examination for a navigator's license, the school comes as a welcome aid. Under the navigation laws a man must have two years' sea experience before he can take his examination, but many men have been at sea for years and even then failed to pass. At the school, however, the necessary training is given and a few weeks added to the two years' sea experience is all that is necessary in most cases for the applicant to qualify for his license.

The following figures give an idea of the scope of the school:

Total enrollment up to May 1, 1917

Total number of men qualified by the school for license of officers in the Merchant Marine Service and Commissioned Officers in the U. S. Navy

Total number of men who have taken the course in Navigation, Signaling and Gunnery and who were qualified for the service for sea commissioned ratings 1,123 That is a pretty clear record. No one has failed.

"Shooting the Sun."

When you consider all that is done at the school you can understand why no one should fail. Here in this room is a wheel, ingeniously mounted on a turn-table. Before the wheel is a compass. When the wheel is turned the whole base moves; thus, as at sea, the ship cannot ever be kept on a "dead" course. Elsewhere, in other rooms, lectures in navigation and engineering are given, and problems in seamanship are worked out and apart from "shooting the sun" on the bridge the students twice a week go down the bay in a tender belonging to the Seamen's Church Institute and get instruction in streaming and reading the log, taking cross bearings, taking observations of the sun for longitude and finding deviation by compass, working out ship's position, boat drill, fire drill and every conceivable problem of which they need have knowledge.

While usually the students at the school are men who have taken up the sea for a living, often rich men come to learn that they may qualify to navigate their own yachts. When the war was at its height a farmer knocked at Captain Huntington's quarters and pushed a strapping youth in ahead of him. "How de, mister," said the farmer. "I calc'late as how you all ud like Hiram here to be captaining one of Uncle Sam's battleships."

From Farm to Navy.

Perhaps it was a piece of chewing that Captain Huntington nearly swallowed; at any rate he coughed. And he said that Hiram might be pretty slick behind the plow, but he'd have to go to sea two years before he could try to steer one of Uncle Sam's big fighting ships. "See here, mister, you don't do that with me," retorted the farmer, thoroughly aroused. "I calc'late I'm an Amurrican citizen and my Hiram's a goin' to hitch up one of these yer supper-dreadnaughts or I'll see Congressman Simpkins down to Hog's Corners."

Here was a problem, but Captain Huntington met it and at last Hiram's father left and Hiram enlisted in the naval reserve. Also he took the course at the school and in time he became an ensign. Someday he may be able to show his father around a ship that he commands.

You will say then that the Episcopal Church is not qualified to teach navigation? With the aid of the Nation-Wide Campaign the present school will be so enlarged as to be a valuable factor in building up the new merchant marine that to carry the American flag all the seas.

Wayne E. Stevens to Compile War History

A plan is definitely under way for writing an official history of the part played by Illinois during the great war. This history will consist in all probability of some eight or ten volumes and will cover all phases of war activity within the State, civilian as well as military. At its recent session the legislature made an appropriation to be used for the collection of the necessary material and named the Illinois State Historical Library as the agency which should undertake the work. The library has in turn established a War Records Section with headquarters in the State Capitol at Springfield, which will be in immediate charge of the project.

Wayne E. Stevens, who served for several months with the Historical Branch of the General Staff at Washington, has been appointed secretary and will have general supervision of the undertaking. The project for writing a history of Illinois during the war has, besides the sanction of the legislature, the warm personal approval of Governor Lowden, and is in line with similar undertakings in many other states. Illinois cannot afford to be negligent in this matter and the written record of her part in the war must be of a scope and dignity to correspond to the measure of her achievements. Official statistics show that Illinois stood third among the states in the number of men furnished for the army, her quota being exceeded only by those contributed by New York and Pennsylvania. In other fields of war activity the State had a correspondingly important share.

The volumes which are planned will take into account, not only the achievements of the army and navy, but also the work which was done at home, which constituted the "fight behind the lines" and in which every citizen of Illinois had a share. They will tell how public opinion was welded into a driving force, determined to carry the struggle through to victory; how industries and man power were mobilized, and how a vast movement was organized in order to maintain the armed forces of the nation; in brief, they will show how the entire resources of the State were mobilized in order to help save the world from the threat of Prussian militarism.

The first task to which the War Records Section will devote itself will be the gathering of the data necessary to write a history. A large collection of material will be assembled at Springfield for this purpose while local collections will be formed in each of the counties of the State. It will be necessary to seek the co-operation of representative committees in the various counties which will assemble and preserve local material and at the same time assist the War Records Section in building up the collection at Springfield.

The heartiest co-operation on the part of the people of the State will be necessary in order to insure the fullest success of the undertaking. It is of the first importance that every person who possesses any material whatsoever pertaining to the war should preserve it from being carelessly lost or destroyed. Newspapers, letters and diaries of men in the service, war posters, circulars, etc., are all of great value and can be used in writing the history. Many chapters must be devoted to various war agencies, such as the American Red Cross, the Food and Fuel Administration, the State Council of Defense, and many others. Persons who were in any way connected with these organizations are asked not to destroy any correspondence or other records still in their possession. Those who have material of any sort which they desire to contribute to the collection at Springfield or which they are willing to loan for the purpose of copying, are urged to communicate with the War Records Section of the Illinois State Historical Library.

Projects for the publication of state war histories as commercial ventures have already made their appearance in Illinois. Without detracting from any such enterprise, the citizens of Illinois are nevertheless reminded that the project here described is peculiarly their own and one in which they are all invited to share. With their co-operation it will be possible to publish an official history of Illinois in the war which will in every respect be worthy of the traditions of the State.

ARMY TRUCK TRAIN IS ON COAST; COMPLETES RUN ON LINCOLN WAY

First Transcontinental Tour Makes Highway Na- tionally Known.

A. B. Whitcombe, of this city, consul of the Lincoln Highway, has been advised that the transcontinental run of the first army truck train ended September 6 on the Pacific coast. This tour established the Lincoln Highway as the first great transcontinental transport route.

The army truck train visited Dixon in June while passing through the county on the Lincoln Highway. It aroused additional enthusiasm in the Lincoln Highway and in the great work the Lincoln Highway association is accomplishing in the interests of the nation.

The preliminary work and the effort and co-operation of the association in connection with the run of the army truck train cost the association in the neighborhood of $10,000.

A. F. Ement, vice president of the association, writes Mr. Whitcombe as follows:

"Do the people of your community, do your commercial organizations realize that the Lincoln Highway association is a powerful organization, always on the job in the interests of your locality? Do they stop to realize the great benefits which our work has already brought your community? Has your community yet reached 100 percent support of this association?"

"To continue our work, to carry on our effort continually costs money. We must have the thorough support of every wide awake active progressive Lincoln Highway city."

In an interview today Consul Whitcombe pointed out that had it not been for the Lincoln Highway the excellent paved highway from east to west through the county would not have been realized so soon. It would have come in time, he said, but benefit has already been reaped for Dixon and vicinity.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

The Camel's Swiftess.

Everyone has heard of the swiftess of the dromedary, that on his native sands he can travel faster than an Arab horse. There is a picturesque Eastern proverb which declares: "When thou shalt meet a camel and say to the rider, good morning, before he shall have answered, he will be far off and out of sight, for the camel's swiftess is like the wind."

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CHAUTAUQUA SYSTEM'S GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY TO BE CELEBRATED BY NATION'S PLATFORM STARS AT CHICAGO IN SEPTEMBER

"The most American thing in America," the Chautauqua system, will have reached its fiftieth year in September. It was the late Colonel Roosevelt who put the superlative stamp of Americanism upon the Chautauqua.

All of the ten thousand people who are connected with the promotion of the Redpath chautauquas in more than 5,000 towns have been invited to attend the semi-centennial anniversary of the founding of the system to be held in the Auditorium Theater at Chicago, in September.

The celebration will continue for three days, the music being furnished by a massed band of one hundred pieces led by Bohumir Kryl.

Among the guests will be several hundred of the most brilliant men in America—men who have carried great messages to the millions of people of the United States by way of the chautauqua platform. Included among these will be statesmen who have 15 years occupied the center of the stage in American affairs.

Others present will be the foremost entertainers, musicians, artists and actors, famed for their ability in all lands.

The season of 1919, now in full swing from Maine to California, finds many lecturers who did service for the government in many ways, for the chautauqua was one of the earliest volunteers in the war. Many lecturers served in the liberty loan campaigns. Others gave up engagements to serve with the Red Cross, Young Men's Christian Association, Knights of Columbus and other organizations. A number were permanently located in the departments in Washington.

The service flag of the Redpath Bureau contained many stars for those who fought on French battlefields. A number of gold stars mark the going of some whose cheery smiles and humorous remarks made thousands glad in former years. The President was moved as early as December, 1917, to express his appreciation of what the chautauquas and chautauqua workers were doing for the country.

after two prisoners had attempted to escape.

CHICAGO—Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee in a statement said President Wilson was pounding against a stone wall in attempting to have the peace treaty ratified without reservations.

NEW YORK—The Association Opposed to National Prohibition has announced it would go into politics at the November elections. It will devote its attention to working for the election of anti-prohibitionists as governors and members of state legislatures, according to a statement issued Sunday.

BERLIN—The government has addressed a note to the entente regretting that the evacuation by the Germans of the Baltic provinces which has been ordered by the peace commission, is impossible owing to the insubordination of the German troops still in Courland.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says "We can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath."

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate get on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

partment has issued a circular to its troops along the border to flash red, white and green signals as a warning to American aviators who have crossed the frontier.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE REVELATIONS OF A WIFE."

"Should a girl tell her prospective husband her past life? is a very strong point untraveled in that mysterious dramatic offering, 'The Revelations of a Wife' that will be offered for public approval for one night at the Dixon opera house Thursday, Sept. 11th. The play makes a strong plea for the depressed and innocent and still it is filled with mysteries until the final drop of the curtain. In writing the play the author probably had in mind that the public is clamoring for something new theatrically and the tremendous success in New York of plays of the mysterious order like 'The Unknown Purple,' 'Three Faces East,' 'The Invisible Foe,' 'The Woman in Room Thirteen,' 'The Crimson Alibi at Nine-Forty-Five,' etc., no doubt prompted him to write along this line. The story its tells is of especial interest to women for real life depicted in an intensely dramatic series of episodes. 'The Revelations of a Wife' should meet with approval from all classes of theatre-going, amusement-seeking public. To further describe the play would probably take away some of the mysterious atmosphere that surrounds it and spoil a real evening of mystery.

THE "BLUES" Caused by Acid-Stomach

Millions of people who worry, are despondent, have spells of mental depression, feel blue and are often melancholy, believe that these conditions are due to outside influences over which they have little or no control. Nearly always, however, they can be traced to an internal source—acid-stomach. Nor is it to be wondered at. Acid-stomach, beginning with such well defined symptoms as indigestion, belching, heartburn, flat, etc., will, if not checked, in time affect to some degree or other all the vital organs. The nervous system becomes deranged. Digestion suffers. The blood is impoverished. Health and strength are undermined. The victim of acid-stomach, although he may not know the cause of his ailments, feels his hope, courage, resolution and energy slipping. And truly life is a dark—not worth much, to the man or woman who has acid-stomach!

Are you tortured by itching, miserable from pain, horrified at your reflection, unable to sleep? Eczema's burning torture and humiliation can be relieved.

Meat a ten-cent bottle of vaseline. Stir into it a heaping spoonful of Ma-ore Antiseptic Powder. Apply every night to the infected skin. Wash the skin during the day with a solution of a little Ma-ore Antiseptic Powder dissolved in warm water. Continue this for a week.

CLOSE OF CORN IS WEAK AFTER LIGHT SELLING

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 8.—Corn traders showed a disposition to adopt a waiting attitude today pending the issuance of the government crop report this afternoon. Trading was only of a scattered sort, and the market was easily influenced. Sellers however, were slightly in the majority. Opening prices which ranged from 1 1/2c decline to 1/4c advance, with Sept. 1.64 to 1.64 1/4, and Dec. 1.32 to 1.32 1/4, were followed by a moderate general setback and then something of a rally. Oats held steady with corn. After opening 1/4c off to 1/2c advance Dec. at 72 1/2c to 72 3/4, the market eased down slightly and then scored a little upturn.

Trade in provisions was nearly at a standstill. In the absence of any aggressive support quotations inclined to sag. Later, the bears put considerable stress on the fact that the season is approaching when hedging sales become a decisive influence. The close was weak, 1/2c to 1 1/2c net lower, with Sept. 1.62 1/2 and Dec. 1.31 to 1.31 1/4.
